WELCOME FROM THE PRESIDENT

Dear Friends:

It is with great pleasure that I offer my formal congratulations to you on the culmination of your years of effort, endeavor, and achievement at the University of Connecticut.

When you cross the stage at commencement, you will become part of a great experiment with humble beginnings in the fall of 1881, which today encompasses nearly 300,000 fellow Huskies across the globe, who can be found at the heights of industry and public service all the way to the daily joys and responsibilities of life in communities both large and small.

I know you will cherish many memories from your time at UConn. Among them will be moments that forged lifelong bonds of friendship at an all-night study session or in the student section at Gampel Pavilion; discoveries in the classroom or the laboratory that helped shape and direct your career path; and the feeling of empowerment that comes from joining together with your peers on a service project, political cause, or even raising money for a children's hospital by dancing the night away at HuskyTHON.

These memories will be an inexhaustible treasury for you no matter where your journey leads next, and so will the values that you developed here at UConn: a passion for discovery, a commitment to service, and a relentless desire to pursue excellence.

In the years to come, I ask only that you let those values bring you home to UConn. By this, I mean not only attending alumni gatherings and sporting events, but keeping us up to date on your achievements and triumphs, of which there will be many. Your friends, your peers, and your professors will benefit from this, but so will future generations of Huskies, who will look to you as mentors, models, and inspirations.

As you embark on the next chapter in life, I wish you the fulfillment of all the promise a UConn degree brings, and the immeasurable joy that comes with hard-won accomplishment.

Once again: congratulations! Huskies FOREVER!

Cheers,

COMMENCEMENT NOTES

Commencement Day at the University of Connecticut is a time of ceremony and pageantry, embracing traditions dating back to medieval times.

The University of Connecticut was founded as the Storrs Agricultural School in 1881 when the General Assembly accepted a gift of money and land from Charles and Augustus Storrs, natives of Mansfield. In 1893 when it became a land-grant college and officially opened to women, the name was changed to Storrs Agricultural College. As the mission of the institution grew, its name was changed in 1899 to Connecticut Agricultural College, and in 1933 to the Connecticut State College. At first a small but vigorous college with limited undergraduate offerings in agriculture, home economics and mechanical arts, with the development of a university program it became The University of Connecticut in 1939. The Graduate program began in 1935, and in 1949 the University awarded its first doctoral degrees. The regional campuses were established in 1946 to accommodate the influx of veteran students. Today, the University is made up of fourteen different schools and colleges. Through its administrative Divisions, Institutes, and Centers, the University is a Land Grant and Sea Grant College and a Space Grant Consortium Institution, privileged to serve the citizens of the State of Connecticut, and beyond.

Enormous expansion has taken place over the years together with increased enrollment. Today, the University has an enrollment of over 34,424 students. At Storrs, there are over 21,042 undergraduates and more than 8,233 graduate students from the various campuses, representing some 111 nations.

This May, the University will award over 8,836 degrees. Of these, approximately 6,163 will be Bachelor's degrees, 1,660 Master's degrees, 160 Juris Doctor degrees, 74 Master of Laws degrees, 68 Doctor of Pharmacy degrees, 52 Doctor of Dental Medicine degrees, 105 Doctor of Medicine degrees, 4 Doctor of Musical Arts degrees, 4 Doctor of Audiology, 4 Doctor of Education degrees, 34 Doctor of Nursing Practice degrees, 31 Doctor of Physical Therapy degrees, and 411 Doctor of Philosophy degrees. Also to be awarded are 26 diplomas in Professional Education and 40 Associate's degrees in the two-year Ratcliffe Hicks School of Agriculture.

The Commencement Ceremony, because of the large number of graduates, is divided into separate exercises, by college or school. The Schools of Dental Medicine and Medicine, located in Farmington, and the Schools of Law and Social Work, both located in Hartford, hold their own exercises. The Commencement procession in each of the exercises at Gampel Pavilion in Storrs is heralded by the ceremonial trumpets, acquired especially for the University's commencement.

The Academic Procession is led by the Bearer of the Mace, followed by the faculty. The University Marshal, identified by his Baton, follows the President, together with the speaker, members of the Board of Trustees, vice presidents, deans, and other University officials. The Mace is presented at the center of the stage while members of the platform party enter and take their places. Once the Mace is placed on the stand, it signals the beginning of the ceremony.

The Academic Gowns, Hoods and Regalia represent more than elegance or colorful attire. Academic caps and gowns continue a tradition which reaches far back into the early days of the oldest universities of the Middle Ages. The early European universities were founded by the church; the students, being clerics, were obliged to wear prescribed gowns and caps at all times. Caps and gowns were once common forms of clothing and were retained by the clergy when the laity adopted more modern dress. Hoods are lined with the official color of the college or university which conferred the degree. The velvet edging of the hood varies in length for bachelors, masters, and doctoral degrees. The color represents the appropriate degree. The tassel for the bachelor's and master's degree may be of color distinctive to the degree, and the tassel for the doctoral degree may be made of gold thread. The gown and hood of the University Marshal were made specifically for University ceremonies in the official colors of national flag blue and white. The Processional Marshals wear blue velvet "beefeater" berets.

The Mace is presented at all academic ceremonies. In medieval times maces were weapons of warfare, but today a mace is "a staff borne by, or carried before, a magistrate or other dignitary as an ensign of his authority." It is the emblem and symbol of the President's authority to administer the University. This mace was first used at the Inauguration of President Homer D. Babbidge, Jr. on October 20, 1962. It was designed by Nathan Knobler, former head of the Department of Art. The University's early seal, executed in beautiful wood carving, appears on both faces. A penny dated 1881 is affixed to it, to commemorate the date of the University's founding.

The Baton, carried by the University Marshal, was specifically designed for ceremonial activities at The University of Connecticut and was first used at the Commencement in 1968. The Office of Marshal can also be traced back to the medieval period, and the Baton is a symbol of the Marshal's authority. This Baton has silver mountings and is surmounted by a representation of the University's former seal in enamel, which itself incorporates the coat of arms of the State of Connecticut.

The University Marshal, carrying the Baton, follows the Mace Bearer as he leads the academic procession into and out of the place of ceremony.

The Silver Collar/Medallion, worn by Radenka Maric, President, was first used in 1964, at the time of the University's Silver Anniversary. Each link on the collar represents one of the University's Schools or Colleges and consists of a cloisonné circle engraved with an appropriate design for the particular school and enameled with its traditional school or college colors. Hanging from the chain is a large silver medallion containing the University's early seal.

The Awarding of Degrees at the University of Connecticut is accomplished by a threefold process. First, the candidates for degrees of each respective school or college are presented by the University Marshal. The candidates proceed to the front, receive their diploma covers, are congratulated by their administrative officers, and return to their seats. Second, the School or College Marshal then officially presents the candidates to the Dean who acknowledges the candidates and declares the appropriate degree. Third, when all candidates have been duly presented, the President of the University (or the highest ranking official of the University in attendance) formally confers the appropriate degree. This is accomplished verbally at the time that they speak the words:

"By virtue of the authority vested in me by the Trustees of The University of Connecticut, and in accordance with the procedures and regulations of the University, I confer upon you the Associate's Degree, appropriate Bachelor's Degree, Master's Degree, Sixth Year Diploma, or degree of Doctor for which you have been presented at this One Hundred and Forty Seventh Commencement of The University."

The Recessional of the officials and faculty is once again led by the Mace Bearer and University Marshal. The graduates, along with the audience, are requested to remain seated until the recessional is concluded.

ACADEMIC HONORS

University Scholar

The University Scholar designation is the highest scholastic honor at the University. The individualized undergraduate programs of these students, which in some cases include work toward a graduate degree, are supervised by faculty committees. Up to thirty students are selected as University Scholars in the junior year. Candidates for the University Scholar designation wear a golden medal on a gold and blue ribbon at the Commencement exercises.

Honors Scholar

Honors Scholars are academically talented and highly motivated students who complete intensive two- to four-year programs, including Honors courses of unusual depth in the major field. Honors Scholars must demonstrate engagement in their major field and complete a departmentally-approved Honors thesis/Honors capstone project. Candidates for the Honors Scholar designation wear a silver medal on a blue and white ribbon at the Commencement exercises.

Honors Scholar and University Honors Laureate

Honors Scholars and University Honors Laureates are academically talented and highly motivated students who complete intensive two- to four-year programs. As Honors Scholars these students participate in Honors courses of unusual depth in the major field and complete a departmentally-approved Honors thesis/Honors capstone project. Honors Scholars show engagement in their major field through projects that support their professional development. Honors Scholars who complete additional academic and co-curricular requirements also earn the University Honors Laureate designation. This award recognizes breadth in Honors work, as well as engagement and involvement in a variety of communities. Candidates for the Honors Scholar and University Honors Laureate designations wear a white enamel and silver medal incorporating both awards on a blue and white ribbon at the Commencement exercises.

Please Note: An asterisk () after a graduate's name indicates that they are a candidate for dual degrees.*

General Dynamics Electric Boat*

Matthew Olander is the senior vice president of programs and engineering at General Dynamics Electric Boat in Groton, Connecticut. Matt is a member of the University of Connecticut Academy of Distinguished Engineers and a recipient of the General Dynamics Technology Excellence Award.

Olander received his dual bachelor's degree in mechanical engineering and metallurgy from UConn in 1994, and his master's degree in mechanical engineering from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute in 2002.

Olander joined Electric Boat as a mechanical engineer working propulsion shafting on the Virginia program, and later as the lead system engineer for a one-of-a-kind research and development submarine. He then progressed through various programmatic and engineering leadership positions. The majority of Olander's career has been focused on developing and delivering new nuclear submarine capability to the United States Navy. Olander became vice president of engineering in 2021 prior to his current role.

In his current role, Olander leads the development, design, engineering, construction, testing, fleet support, and program management of every modern U.S. submarine program.

Olander's advanced concepts team directly supports the Navy in the identification and development of new technologies and payloads. These efforts have helped shape the Navy's evolution of submarine capabilities and designs for three decades.

Olander runs the internal research and development efforts at Electric Boat, which develop new tools and multi-physics analytical capabilities that exceed what is commercially available.

Olander is a strong advocate and supporter of the National Institute for Undersea Vehicle Technology (NIUVT), which his engineering team leads at Electric Boat in collaboration with UConn and University of Rhode Island faculty. NIUVT is a university-industry alliance that partners with the Navy to advance the capabilities of the next-generation U.S. undersea fleet by training innovative engineers and accelerating the research, development, and transition of key enabling technologies.

ELISABETH DELUCA SCHOOL OF NURSING HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENT AND COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER

Elisabeth DeLuca, RN

Elisabeth DeLuca is a proud graduate of the University of Connecticut School of Nursing whose work has impacted the education and long-term outcomes of thousands of nurses and allied health professionals. After graduating, Elisabeth gained her first employment experience as a surgical nurse at Bridgeport Hospital. She then went on to work at the Veterans Administration Hospital where she practiced in the Surgical and Medical ICUs and Geriatric Intermediate Care Unit.

After working for several years and starting a family, Elisabeth chose to join her husband in building his business from a single shop to a global network of restaurants. Despite that shift in professional focus, Elisabeth continued to apply many of the principles learned in her nursing experience to her new role in the business world.

Today Elisabeth serves as president of both the Frederick A. DeLuca Foundation and the Elisabeth C. DeLuca Foundation through which she has supported many charitable initiatives and impacted thousands of individuals through transformative and strategic giving. Inspired by her mother's sacrifices to provide formal educations for Elisabeth and her two siblings, Elisabeth's philanthropy is based on sustainable models, innovative partnerships, and programs that remove barriers to education and career advancement. She is among the nation's largest philanthropic supporters of nurses and allied health professionals resulting in education and upward mobility opportunities for thousands of people who otherwise would not have had such opportunities.

Among her most enduring contributions is her landmark gift to UConn to support a major expansion of the School of Nursing, including a new facility to advance instruction, simulation-based learning, and innovation in the training of nurses. Through this support, the School of Nursing will double its enrollment in the next few years.

The Honorable Antonietta “Toni” Boucher, '02

Toni Boucher is a trailblazing leader whose career reflects a deep commitment to public service, economic stewardship, and educational excellence. An immigrant from war-torn Italy, she embodies the promise of the American Dream, having risen to prominence as a financial executive, author, and senior state legislator. She currently serves as the First Selectman of Wilton, Connecticut, where she functions as the town’s Chief Executive Officer and Chief Administrative Officer.

Boucher’s public service career spans more than four decades and is marked by exceptional institutional knowledge and the ability to lead across multiple levels of government. Prior to assuming office as First Selectman in December 2023, she served for 22 years in the Connecticut General Assembly. Her tenure included 10 years in the State Senate as Chief Deputy Minority Leader, where she played a central role in shaping state policy related to transportation, finance, and higher education. She also served 12 years in the State House of Representatives as Assistant Minority Leader, representing the 143rd District. A lifelong advocate for education, Boucher chaired the Wilton Board of Education, served on the Connecticut State Board of Education, and contributed to the state’s Vo-Tech Advisory Board. Her legislative work consistently emphasized fiscal responsibility, best practices in governance, and long-term sustainability, culminating in her consideration of a gubernatorial run in 2018.

Alongside her public service, Boucher built a distinguished private-sector career, reaching senior leadership roles in finance and entrepreneurship. She recently retired as a director of Commonfund, a premier $26 billion asset management firm serving nonprofit institutions. Over the course of her corporate career, she managed billion-dollar budgets, led large-scale business development initiatives within Fortune 500 environments, and co-founded multiple successful startups. These ventures included a marketing and design agency serving high-tech and bioscience firms, as well as a mainframe software maintenance company. Her financial credentials include Series 7, 63, and 31 investment licenses, and she holds an MBA in International Marketing from the University of Connecticut.

Boucher is also widely recognized for her philanthropic leadership and thought leadership in nonprofit governance. She has co-authored a seminal white paper on nonprofit ethics and is frequently sought out as a spokesperson on ethical leadership. Her board service reflects a broad commitment to medical research, education, conservation, and civic discourse. She currently serves on the UConn Foundation Board and the Advisory Board of the Johns Hopkins Hospital Brady Clinic for Men’s Health, and has held trustee roles with organizations such as the Merritt Parkway Conservancy, Friends of Sherwood Island State Park, and the Norwalk River Valley Trail. Additionally, she supports national initiatives including the National Institute for Civil Discourse and Ms. President–U.S.

In 2025, Boucher expanded her public impact through authorship with the release of two books. The Husky Effect examines the role of the University of Connecticut in cultivating future entrepreneurs, while Stone Doll, a memoir, offers a deeply personal account of her journey from Italy to American leadership.

A resident of Wilton for more than 40 years, Toni Boucher is the devoted mother of three and grandmother of six. Outside her professional and civic responsibilities, she enjoys gardening, landscaping, playing pickleball, and music.

Aleanna Soto

Aleanna Soto is graduating with a Bachelor of Science in Management with a minor in Analytics. Originally from Springfield, Massachusetts, and now residing in Simsbury, Connecticut, she was honored to be admitted directly into the School of Business at the University of Connecticut's Storrs campus.

Throughout her time at UConn, Aleanna has been deeply involved both on campus and within the School of Business community. She began her journey as a First-Year Experience Mentor and Management & Entrepreneurship Committee Head for the Business Connections Learning Community. Through case competitions, professional development certificates, and networking engagement, she earned recognition as a BCLC Scholar. Her leadership continued to grow as she became a Peer Mentor for the School of Business Undergraduate Programs Office and later served as a Student Administrative Assistant. She also supported students as a Resident Assistant for the Business Connections Learning Community.

A proud Latina and dedicated business student, Aleanna found a strong sense of community in the Association of Latino Professionals for America. She first served as Vice President of Corporate Relations before being elected Vice President of the organization, where she worked to expand professional opportunities and strengthen corporate partnerships for fellow students.

Beyond campus leadership, Aleanna gained experience across both service and corporate environments. She worked as a Camp Counselor at High Meadow Day Camp, a Dining Services Ambassador in an independent senior living community, and a Crew Member at Dunkin. Through these roles, she developed strong interpersonal skills, adaptability, and a genuine passion for connecting with and serving others — shaping her into a people-centered leader. She also completed a human resources internship with CVS Health as an HR Business Partner, where she continued to lead with that same people-first mindset.

Following graduation, Aleanna will return to CVS Health through their Human Resources Leadership Development Program, where she looks forward to contributing to people-centered business strategy and creating meaningful impact through leadership.

Prior to becoming CEO, Ms. Nooyi served as PepsiCo's President and Chief Financial Officer and was a member of the company's board of directors. Nooyi is the author of the book My Life in Full: Work, Family and Our Future, a memoir that offers insight and a call-to-action on how our society can blend work and family — and advance women — in the 21st century. My Life in Full is a New York Times bestseller and available in multiple languages.

Ms. Nooyi is the recipient of 15 honorary degrees. In 2007, the Government of India awarded her the Padma Bhushan, the country's third highest civilian honor. Anita Bevacqua McBride '81 (CLAS)

Anita McBride is an internationally recognized expert on the legacies of American first ladies and operations of the White House. In 2024 she co-authored Remember the First Ladies: The Legacies of America's History-Making Women, showcasing the evolving role of the first lady and its historical influence on the American presidency, politics, policy and global diplomacy. She also co-authored a first of its kind textbook, U.S. First Ladies: Making History and Leaving Legacies (2023), filling a critical gap in academic literature on the study of first ladies and their accomplishments. In 2024, she co-authored with her daughter a children's book, First Ladies Make History, published by the White House Historical Association.

She is a founding member of the First Ladies Association for Research and Education (FLARE), a national organization affiliated with American University's School of Public Affairs, which promotes research and education about the lives, contributions, and lasting legacies of U.S. First Ladies. McBride also serves as executive-in-residence at the Center for Congressional and Presidential Studies at American University where she leads the First Ladies Initiative. She also serves as an advisor to the university's Sine Institute for Policy and Politics. Additionally, she is co-chair of In Pursuit, a new national initiative of More Perfect in partnership with Substack, launched to mark America's 250th anniversary. This project features essays by presidents, first ladies, justices, historians, and civic leaders that reflect on lessons of U.S. leadership and connect our history to the pursuit of a more perfect union.

McBride is a highly sought after speaker and media expert on first ladies, presidential transitions and White House operations and has appeared on all major network and cable news outlets and in national print media. She also has served as a consultant to HBO's Emmy-award winning series, Veep.

McBride's expertise on the White House and the influence of first ladies was acquired through her two decades of experience serving in senior roles under Presidents Ronald Reagan, George H. W. Bush, and George W. Bush in the White House and U.S. Department of State. She is one of the longest-tenured women in White House history.

As Chief of Staff to First Lady Laura Bush, she directed the first lady's work on a wide range of global and domestic initiatives including education reform, literacy, women's health, historic preservation, promotion of the arts and culture and stewardship of our national parks. She directed the first lady's travels to 67 countries in four years to support the Administration's U.S. foreign policy objectives in advancing democracy, global health, education and literacy, and women's empowerment.

McBride has also focused on elevating the influence and impact of first ladies around the world. She co-founded the RAND African First Ladies Initiative and Fellowship program, now the Global First Ladies Alliance, partnering with first ladies to support their efforts as champions of change in their countries, as well as train their staff and advisors in strategies for managing an effective first lady's office.

McBride is active in a number of organizations serving in leadership roles including as a board officer of the White House Historical Association where she chairs the Association's biannual Presidential Sites Summit – a convening of 200+ presidential historic sites from across the nation to promote civic education and the understanding and appreciation of presidential history. She also is a member of the US-Afghan Women's Council and the International Republican Institute's Women's Democracy Network, and Vice Chair of the National Italian American Foundation, where she serves as Co-Chair of the Government Relations committee. She is a founding advisor of RightNow Women PAC to support Republican women running for federal elective office and is a member of the Government Affairs Committee of the United States Semiquincentennial Commission (America 250), the congressional entity established to help plan the celebration of the 250th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence. McBride is also a member of the Committee of Scholars of the Smithsonian American Women's History Museum and on the National Advisory Board for the National First Ladies Library.

Additionally, Anita serves on the Global Advisory Board to Libra Group, a global business group that includes 20 businesses focused on aerospace, renewable energy, maritime, real estate, hospitality and diversified investments.

Ashley Johnston

Ashley Johnston, a candidate for a Master of Arts in English and a certificate in American Studies, has demonstrated an unwavering commitment to scholarship, their students, and the broader intellectual community. Ashley has been accepted into several outstanding Ph.D. programs with full funding, including Brown University, demonstrating their excellence at all levels. All these achievements have been attested to by the committee of three faculty members who nominated them.

Ashley's positive impact has extended to planning writing conferences, forging enhanced relationships with first-year composition students, serving in the role of secretary for the English Graduate Student Association (EGSA), and bringing creativity into the classroom. These contributions are not simply items on a to-do list, but evidence of a sincere dedication to enriching the university experience and advancing its mission.

Ashley Johnston's intellectually formidable MA project centers on how we piece together fragments to create a sense of history that is capacious rather than extractive. Between the gaps and absences of the print and visual materials of the archive, we find traces of a resistant past that still haunts us; stories that speak yet refuse the closure of totalizing narratives. Ashley's work gives voice to long-unknown histories and experiences.

Gerald Chan

Gerald Chan is a scientist and a venture capitalist who has forged transformative changes across many fields in medicine and healthcare.

Gerald is a co-founder of Morningside, a venture investment enterprise that starts and builds science and technology-based companies. Working with academic scientists, he has started over two dozen biotech companies across diverse therapeutic areas. Some of these companies have opened up entirely new fields of medicine. For example, he took eighteen years to build Stealth BioTherapeutics which developed the first FDA approved drug for mitochondrial dysfunction. Over fifteen years, he built Apellis Therapeutics which developed a drug that inhibits the complement cascade of the innate immune system for treating autoimmune kidney diseases and for slowing progression of age-related macular degeneration. In neurology, he spun technologies out of MIT and built two companies — Cognito Therapeutics which is developing non-invasive neurostimulation to slow the progression of Alzheimer's Disease, and Encora which has an FDA approved neuromodulation device for stopping essential tremor.

He has also launched a number of companies that use artificial intelligence to improve the quality and access to healthcare. These companies include Linus Health which uses AI to measure cognitive impairment with sub-clinical sensitivity, Cognoa which utilizes AI to render fast and accurate diagnosis for children on the autism spectrum, and Ieso which uses AI agents to deliver cognitive behavioral therapy.

An incisive critic of higher education, Gerald has put forth ideas for radical reforms of universities in America in his recent lectures — the Frank Rhodes Lecture in Arizona State University, the McKay Lecture in University of Michigan and the Dean's Distinguished Lecture in the College of Computing, Data Science and Society, University of California, Berkeley.

Gerald received his undergraduate and master's degrees in engineering from UCLA, a master's degree in medical radiological physics and a Doctor of Science degree in radiation biology from Harvard University. He received his postdoctoral training at the Laboratory of Biochemical Pharmacology, Dana-Farber Cancer Institute. He has received eight honorary degrees and is a Distinguished Fellow of the Harvard T.H. Chan School of Public Health. He is an elected Fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, the American Association for the Advancement of Science, and the British Academy of Social Sciences. In 2026, he was the recipient of the Gordon and Llura Gund Leadership Award from Research!America for his advocacy for medical and public health research.

THE GRADUATE SCHOOL – DOCTORAL CEREMONY HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENT AND COMMENCEMENT SPEAKERS

Sir M. Stanley Whittingham, Honorary Degree Recipient

M. Stanley Whittingham is a Distinguished Professor of Chemistry and Materials Science and Engineering at Binghamton University. After earning his D.Phil. at Oxford University, he was a research associate in materials science and engineering at Stanford University. This was followed by 16 years in the energy industry before returning to academia at Binghamton, where he developed the materials chemistry programs and, subsequently, master's and Ph.D. programs in materials science and engineering. He served as the university's vice provost for research for five years and as vice chair of the board of directors of the Research Foundation of SUNY. He was the 2019 Chemistry Nobel Laureate for the discovery of lithium rechargeable batteries and the 2023 VinFutures $3 million Grand Prize winner. He is a member of the National Academy of Engineering and fellow of The Royal Society. He presently leads the Battery-NY $113 million economic development effort and is the chief innovation officer of the recently renewed NSF Upstate New York Energy Storage Engine. He is a founding member of New York Battery and Energy Storage Technology Consortium (NYBEST) and serves on the board as vice chair for research and chief scientific officer of NAATBatt, the North American trade association for advanced battery technology. He received a knighthood in the King's birthday honors 2024 list.

Yaakov Bar-Shalom, Edward C. Marth Mentorship Award Recipient

Edward C. Marth Mentorship Award 2026 to recognize the leadership and dedication of Edward Marth and to encourage and reward outstanding mentoring of graduate students by UConn Graduate Faculty members.

Professor Yaakov Bar-Shalom's tenure at the University is legendary in scope and influence after many decades of service. His target tracking research is the foundation to PDAF (probabilistic data-association filter), the JPDAF (the multi-target or joint version of same), and IMM (interacting multiple model), all of which bear his name and are used worldwide for air traffic control systems and Patriot missile deployment. Bar-Shalom has over 75,000 citations and is honored with an award named after him, the ISIF Yaakov Bar-Shalom Award for a Lifetime of Excellence in Information Fusion.

In mentoring 44 doctoral graduate students, Professor Bar

Shalom has cultivated an open, collaborative and intellectually vibrant environment. Considered demanding but deeply supportive, he not only focuses on research, but also on professionalism, ethics, and career development. These very high standards never leave students floundering. He provides all the tools and guidance needed to carry out their tasks. His students past and present consider him their foundation of learning through thoughtful critique and how to represent oneself with integrity and rigor. Even after graduation, mentees reach out to him for wisdom and insight to guide their current endeavors. Despite his international acclaim, he gives credit to the graduate students and postdoctoral scholars he has mentored. The Marth award is a crowning celebration of Professor Bar-Shalom's half-century of service at UConn.

Anietie Williams, Doctoral Student Speaker

Anietie Williams's nominating advisor states, "Anietie's doctoral journey exemplifies resilience, leadership, and service beyond the laboratory." Williams is the founder of UConn's Green Chemistry Initiative and guided the Chemistry department to sign onto the Green Chemistry Initiative with a communication plan across faculty, leadership, and outside organizations. Through this plan, changes within curriculum and departmental adoption made real change to the benefit of all. This effort demonstrates a rare dedication to an institution from a doctoral student.

Williams's ability to communicate well made him effective at collecting data for research in green chemistry and sustainable chemical synthesis and publishing in peer-reviewed publications. His work advances interdisciplinary scientific thinking. Yet his influence on campus extends far beyond his research, to high school students and undergraduates. Williams sets an example of professionalism, engagement, inclusion, and activism.

RECESSIONAL

COMMENCEMENT

SCHOOL OF LAW HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENT AND COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER

Bryan Stevenson

Bryan Stevenson is the founder and Executive Director of the Equal Justice Initiative, a human rights organization in Montgomery, Alabama. Under his leadership, EJI has won major legal challenges eliminating excessive and unfair sentencing, exonerating innocent death row prisoners, confronting abuse of the incarcerated and the mentally ill, and aiding children prosecuted as adults.

Mr. Stevenson has argued and won multiple cases at the United States Supreme Court, including a 2019 ruling protecting condemned prisoners who suffer from dementia and a landmark 2012 ruling that banned mandatory life-imprisonment-without-parole sentences for all children 17 or younger. Mr. Stevenson and his staff have won reversals, relief, or release from prison for over 140 wrongly condemned prisoners on death row and won relief for hundreds of others wrongly convicted or unfairly sentenced.

Mr. Stevenson has initiated major new anti-poverty and anti-discrimination efforts that challenge inequality in America. He led the creation of EJI's highly acclaimed Legacy Sites, including the Legacy Museum, the National Memorial for Peace and Justice, and Freedom Monument Sculpture Park. These new national landmark institutions chronicle the legacy of slavery, lynching, and racial segregation, and the connection to mass incarceration and contemporary issues of racial bias.

The official seal of the University of Connecticut depicts the ancient and mighty oak. Beautiful and sacred, the venerable oak symbolizes wisdom, longevity and hospitality. To Aristotle, the oak represented human potential.

The oak holds a special place in Connecticut's history. In a time long before statehood, the Connecticut colony's self-governing status was guaranteed by a charter issued by King Charles II of England. When, in 1687, his successor King James II attempted to reinstate the monarchy's authority, the Crown's emissary's efforts were foiled as the Royal Charter was secretly spirited to a temporary hiding place—a majestic oak in Hartford, forever after known as the Charter Oak. The oak became a symbol of freedom worldwide.

The oak has unique meaning for the University as well. In 1884, the commencement exercises of the second graduating class of the Storrs Agricultural School were held in an oak grove on the Storrs campus. This grove, long a favorite gathering place for a variety of open-air meetings, served as the spiritual home to the growing community of scholars.

The University of Connecticut's graphic interpretation of the oak is a stylized synthesis of two acorns and three oak leaves, representing maturation, intellect and moral strength. The seal is the symbol of a large and diverse institution; it is used by all of the University's schools, colleges, regional campuses, professional schools and UConn Health. It communicates the broader mission of the University as a center for the pursuit, the creation, and the sharing of knowledge. The University of Connecticut, like the mighty oak, is rooted in a proud past and reaches toward a limitless future.
